On the front of the brush just below the neck, the point at which the brush head attaches, is a Philips Sonicare logo in a Grey colour font. It contrasts nicely against the primarily all White body of the brush. There is a contrasting panel right on the front of the brush handle that runs almost the full length.

It cleans the teeth well. It looks and feels good and there are a number of desirable features. It is a great toothbrush for those who want a "smart" toothbrush, but for the vast majority it offers more than you need and commands a premium price. This book reviews existing sensor technologies that are now being coupled with computational intelligence for the remote monitoring of physical activity and ex vivo biosignatures. In today's frenetic world, consumers are becoming ever more demanding: they want to control every aspect of their lives and look for options specifically tailored to their individual needs. In many cases, suppliers are catering to these new demands; as a result, clothing, food, social media, fitness and banking services are all being democratised to the individual. Healthcare provision has finally caught up to this trend and is currently being rebooted to offer personalised solutions, while simultaneously creating a more effective, scalable and cost-effective system for all. The desire for personalisation, home monitoring and treatment, and provision of care in remote locations or in emerging and impoverished nations that lack a fixed infrastructure, is leading to the realisation that mobile technology might be the best candidate for achieving these goals. A combination of several technological, healthcare and financial factors are driving this trend to create a new healthcare model that stresses preventative "health-care" rather than "sick-care", and a shift from volume to value. Mobile healthcare (mhealth), which could also be termed the "internet of people", refers to the integration of sensors and smartphones to gather and interpret clinical data from patients in real-time. Most importantly, with an ageing population suffering multiple morbidities, mhealth could provide healthcare solutions to enhance chronically ill patients' quality of life.

Een gezond parodontium is het fundament voor succesvolle restauratieve tandheelkunde. Zo ontstond bij de auteur, Jan van Hoeve - zelf tandarts - de belangstelling voor parodontologie. Om het resultaat van zijn handelen op langere termijn te kunnen beoordelen, heeft hij vanaf het begin van zijn praktijk in 1970 zo veel mogelijk patiënten klinisch, röntgenologisch en fotografisch gedocumenteerd. De casuistiek en de evaluaties die zodoende ontstonden zijn door Van Hoeve beschreven in meer dan vijftig bijdragen, die in het tijdschrift Tandartspraktijk zijn gepubliceerd. In dit boek is een ruime selectie van deze bijdragen bijeengebracht. Deze uitgave is bedoeld voor tandartsen en mondhygiënen en bestaat uit vier onderdelen: Deel 1 - Algemeene onderwerpen Deel 2 - Artikelen over behandelingsplanning en behandeling Deel 3 - Casuistiek Deel 4 - Bijdragen over regeneratie en de relatie tussen parodontologie en restauratieve tandheelkunde: Door zijn visie en bevindingen te delen met andere tandartsen hoopt de auteur bij te dragen aan het optimaal behandelen van patiënten en tevens het langetermijn effect van behandeling te vergroten.

Find out how housing options for the elderly are changing—and not always for the better. To maintain or improve their quality of life, many seniors in the United States will move to new locations and into new types of housing. Housing for the Elderly addresses the key aspects of the transitions they'll face, examines how housing programs can help, and looks at the role social workers can play to ensure they remain healthy, happy, and productive as they age. Housing for the Elderly provides the tools to build a comprehensive understanding of how housing is changing to support the growing number of elderly persons in the United States. This unique resource examines a full range of housing options, including assisted-living communities, elder-friendly communities, and homelessness; looks at the effects of the Olmstead Decision of 1999, which requires states to place persons with disabilities in community settings rather than in institutions; and summarizes current research on Naturally Occurring Retirement Communities (NORCs). The book also presents a historical perspective of housing issues for the elderly, with a special focus on the discrimination of African-Americans. Topics in Housing for the Elderly include: creating elder-friendly communities; homelessness among the elderly in Toronto; housing disparities for older Puerto Ricans in the United States; grandparent caregiver housing programs; how the Olmstead Decision affects the elderly; social workers, and health care providers; New York State's experience with NORCs; relocation concerns of people living in NORCs; the integration of services for the elderly into housing settings; particularly low-income housing moving from a nursing home to an assisted-living facility; assisted-living and Medicaid; and much more! Housing for the Elderly is an essential resource for social work practitioners, administrators, researchers, and academics who deal with the elderly.

Dieses Buch veranschaulicht die Auswirkungen der digitalen Transformation in Form von Fallstudien. An aktuellen Praxisfällen aus unterschiedlichen Branchen und Unternehmen zeigt sich, was die Digitalisierung für Manager und Mitarbeiter bedeutet, aber auch, wie sie uns alle als Bürger betrifft. Die Fallstudien adressieren unterschiedliche Betrachtungsebenen und Unternehmensdimensionen: angefangen auf der Branchebene über die Perspektive der strategischen Unternehmensführung auf die Firma und ihr(e) Geschäftsmodell(e) sowie Transformationsmaßnahmen bis hin zu einzelnen funktionalen Bereichen wie Marketing, Vertrieb, Personal und Supply Chain Management. Ein besonderer Fokus liegt auf der digitalen Transformation von Geschäftsmodellen. Die Fallstudien können in Lehrveranstaltungen und Weiterbildungsseminaren eingesetzt werden – auf Bachelor- und Masterebene bis hin zu MBA-Kursen.
